The letter written on board the Galena, which appears this morning in our telegraph dispatches, indicates that for once our navy has met with a repulse, The "sour grapes," which crop out here and there through the letter, while they have no effect in softening the news of the repulse, indicate that the commander of the Galena was guilty of a fool-hardy experiment, and had the satisfaction of knowing that his fine vessel is knocked to pieces while he had no prospect whatever of accomplishing may permanent good. With batteries situated on a high bluff, so they could bring a plunging fire upon any vessel having the temerity to venture within range, and with the river blocked up with sunken vessels, we cannot see why the commander of a vessel should anchor within point blank range of so formidable a battery, and deliberately remain there until his vessel was all cut up solid shot, especially where it comes plunging and lights on her- decks. Washington, May 14, 1862. EDITORS JOURNAL .- The Capital of the nation is in its glory now. The flowers are blooming, birds are singing, and nature is everywhere upspringing in wondrous beauty. Yet one who has been here in other years, when we were a united and happy people, is saddened as he walks these streets short years. Go into the Senate or the House of Representatives, and you look whether they will ever again be occupied by men from the States now arrayed in rebellion against the best government upon the face of the earth. It is unpleasisting between Senators from the border States and those who advocate ultra Northern views. Charles Sumner is a splendid man. I am glad his health is restored so that he is again permitted to deliberate in the councils of the nation, but he and his colleague, Senator Wilson, are pushing their abolition sentiments quite too far .-The immediate emancipation of four millions of slaves would be fraught with ununtold evils, and it is fortunate that the majority of the Republican Senators are of co G, A Shausham co I, M P Wells co K. this opinion. I hate slavery. I believe with John Wesley, that if we "take the vilest word in the vocabulary and put it into the mouth of the serpent of the pit, and let him sleep for an age in his venomous slime, it would then be too holy to pronounce all the abominations of slavery. But we must Torrine co H. remove this gigantic evil gradually and cautiously. The conduct of the border State Senators is likewise reprehensible. I was sorry to hear Senator Powell, the other day, apply such opprobrious language to co H, Joseph Pierson co I. the President and his Cabinet because they adopt such stringent measures in crushing this mighty rebellion. Hale, of New Hampshire, has grown gray in the service of his country. He is a conservative man, whose counsels may be safely followed. Saulsbury, of Delaware, is one of the finest looking men in the Senate, and a very effective speaker, but he Geo Simmons co G. is as strong in his pro-slavery as Sumner and Wilson are in their anti-slavery views. Strangers who visit here at this season will be gratified with a trip to Alexandria. One year ago the rebel flag was waving L Dow co G, A J Karn co I. over that ancient city; now, the star-spangled banner is unfurled in nearly every street. The Marshall House, where fell the first martyr in this unnatural war, is now occupied by a Union man, and large numbers of our officers were dining there during our visit, without fear of interruption by a rebellious landlord. Every Wednesday and Saturday an opportunity is offered to visit Mount Vernon, and in this charming month of May, the steamer is crowded with those who desire to look upon the home and tomb of Washinton. It is a plain, unpretending mansion, on the banks of the Potamac, having been changed but slightly since the Father of our Country died. Visitors are shown the room in which be expired, and the bed on which he lay.

As we walked through his garden under trees which had sheltered him from the scorching rays of the summer sun, and stood at his tomb, we were thankful that the soil of his native State was so soon to be free from the dominion of rash and rebellious men. We left this sacred spotour American Mecca-grateful that we had been permitted to visit the home and the grave of the greatest of men; who was first in war, first in peace, and who is still first in the hearts of his countrymen. The traveler is everywhere struck with the great change which in one short year has come over this land of Washington, Eighteen months ago we could travel from East to West and find our countrymen all engaged in peaceful avocations; now also how changed! Soldiers meet us in every village town or city. We are henceforth to be a great military people. The heroes of Donelson, Pittsburg, Williamsburg, and Norfolk, are to occupy official position

You of the great and gallant West will hereafter have a military history of which you may be justly proud. Your sons " have fought like brave men long and well and piled your fields with rebels [slain." You have won the gratitude of the whole nation. Every loyal man can adopt the language of the Governor of Massachusetts when he says " not even the country's voice can loudly enough proclaim the debt which our country owes to these noble men who have met the angriest waves of this rebellion and rolled them back upon their depths. The heart of every son of Massachusetts looks to salute them and do them homage.

We apprehend that all current attempts to regalvanize the late Democratic party into existence as a distinct organization, will signally fail. There can be but one object held in view by the several individuals who have taken the job in charge, and her crew slaughtered. It certainly is and that object is to embarrass the Adminquite consoling to know that it is definitely settled that the Galena will not resist Breckinridger, under the lead of Mr. Buchanan, or the mischief-making sort, under the auspices of Vallandingham & Co., the object aimed at is one, and the end of each the fact was also established that when the will just as certainly be one-defeat .shot from a 10-inch columbiad struck a Neither conservatism, as such, nor radicalsailor, it was most apt to result in his death. ism as such, is destined to extricate the The explosion of the large Parrott gun | country trota its perious the strong common sense of the country is bound to conguns-unlike the Euglish guns of the Arm- trol the destinies of the Republic hencestrong make-will not stand a heavy forth. Their legitimate field of operation is in bar-rooms and corner groceries, whose frequenters are commonly actuated by like motives in the performance of public duty. We do not here refer to honest differences of opinion, which are always sacred and to be respected; but to the grovelling spirit of faction which moves certain members of all organized parties in some degree. Earnest and true men will not stop just now and contemplates the changes made in two to split hairs, or settle mooted questions of political economy. The residence of Andrew Kake, Esq., about ten miles west of this city, was burned on Monday night about 1 o'clock. The family were aroused from their sleep by the falling timbers and cracking flames, and only escaped from the house in their night clothes; not one article of clothing or furniture was saved. After the family had all made their escape from the houses Mrs. Kake, either under the impression that some of her children were yet in the burning house, or in quest of money and valuable papers belonging to Mr. Kake, who was absent from home at the time, rushed in, and was, after considerable search,

A GENUINE IRISH SOLDIER -We had the pleasure of a call, ou Monday night, by Capt. Joyce, of the bloody Tenth Ohio, last night, we believe for Pittsburg Landwhom we found to be a trump, and no mistake. He is a live Irishman, possessed of all their vivacity and shrewdness, and like most of them, a good talker. He was just from Gen. Mitcheli's headquarters at Huntsville, Alabama, whence he came by way of Nashville.

The Captain loves excitement and risks, and he has well nigh had enough of both since he has been in secessia. One adventure he related to us is too

While on his way from Shelbyville to Nashville, he was compelled to leave his ing Store, No. 79 Main street, all of that ceived from a guerilla, and was walking furnishing goods, without reserve. We leisurely along, amusing bimself by practicing with his revolver, when, just after be had emptied the last chamber of his revolver, a man rushed towards him calling out, " who are you?" "I am a Federal officer," replied Joyce. "who are you?" "You are my prisoner," exclaimed se-

"Not by a d-d sight," said the Captain, springing to a tree and leveling his revolver at the rebel before the latter had time to draw his. "Now, throw down your arms, you bloody traitor," says the Captain, " or I'll blow your cussed brains out."

Secesh hesitated a moment, then suddealy dropped his revolver and surrendered to an Irishman with an empty revolver and a vast deal of impudence. Ceptain Joyce brought his prisoner to Nashville, and with C Jessup co B, D Watson co C, W Keith co his horse, pistol, coat and gold-laced cap as C, Andrew Key co E, A Vaughn co F, Sam | trophies, was on his way, when he saw him, to Cincinnati, to drink a poteen of Irish whisky to his future success.

Capt. Joyce informs us further, that John Bell and Jerry Clemens are on their way to Washington, on passes from General Mitchell, to negotiate for peace from the Government.

HANDSOME MUSIC .- We have received from the publisher, D. P. FAULDS, Louisville Ky., a handsome piece of sheet music, entitled, "I'm looking for him home," written and composed by Will L. Hays .-The music has a neat title page, and is one of those simple ballads that never fail to reach the heart.

STATISTICAL POCKET MANUEL .- Mr. Healey has handed us the second volume of this truly valuable little work. This volume sustains the credit of the first and contains a? complete epitome of those facts which one desires most to know in these times of war and bloodshed. Mr. Healy has a supply of the work on hand.

Boquer D'ODEURS .- If our readers do not understand the above, we would refer them to Mr. H. J. Schlaepfer, Druggist, Parfumuer and Chiniste, corner of Main and Second streets, who will take pleasure not EVANSVILLE WHOLESALE MAR only in interpreting this, but will also show them the most recherche assortment of ielicious perfumes and triple extracts ever brought to this city. All the poet's fancy FLOUR, Super. ever dreamed of in the way of sweet and fragrant odors, is more than realized at H. J. Schlaepfer's. As an evidence of his good taste, he advertises liberally in the Journal.

It rarely happens that in our editorial capacity our readers find us premeditatedly and with malice aforethought engaged in puffing any patent medicine. but during our recent trip to the melancholy scenes of Pittsburg Landing there was one medicine which we tound in the hands of nearly every soldier, giving relief wherever applied, whether internally or externally. We refer to Perry Davis' Vetetable Pain Killer. All spoke loud in its praise, and the kind hearted Surgeon of one of our Indiana regiments informed us that he believed it was the only thing that saved at least half of his regiment from dying of dysentery during a recent long march, and we cannot help suggesting to our friends among the army sutlers that it is one of the articles they should never be out of.
